

Case Study

Client: Rochdale Council

System: Digital signage installation

Summary

Working with the council's internal communications team, we installed a networked digital signage display in a key council building. The display and signage player were installed using secure mounts due to the location. The system was set up to provide network management of content, enabling council staff to send messages to the screen in real time from any workstation on the council network. Our in-house design team created bespoke screen layouts and backgrounds.
